THE PALAZZO DELLA BORSA

At the beginning of the 1800's was the city's economical development, a new location for the marketplace in fact in 1816 the Commissione di Pubblico Ornato contacted Luigi Orelli and asked him to design a "new marketplace for grains". The new project grew more ambitious and by 1844 it had developed into the imposing building we see today: the entrance hall is embellished with statues of five important jurists and economists. Today it houses different services and is called "Chambers of Commerce".

| GENERAL INFORMATION

About Novara

Novara is a Roman city founded around the year 89 BC. Its plan of perpendicular streets is still intact today, cardus and decumanus meet in an Old Town full of architectural richness. The Piedmontese army's defeat in the battle of Novara on March 23, 1849, remembered as the beginning of the Italian Risorgimento. The Basilica of San Gaudenzio, the Duomo, the Baptistery, the Broletto and Visconti Sforza Castel are just some of elements which make Novara an important city of Piedmont by amount and quality of cultural heritage.

The City of Novara, the second most important city in Piedmont, is a commercial and logistic node, on the Genoa-Rotterdam corridor, directly connected to Turin and Milan through highways and railroads. Just 20 km from Malpensa International Airport, well connected to the rest of Europe. Novara lies on a mainly flat area but looking north one can appreciate hilly landscapes; it's close to Maggiore Lake and Orta Lake and we can enjoy wonderful view of the Alpi mountain range.

To the east side we find Ticino National Park: these 6000 hectares of protected area are characterized by the presence of a rich and different set of ecosystems that form wealth of biodiversity that is unique.

Looking south we find one of that has the peculiarity of Novara landscape, a vast expanse of rice field; the wonderful countryside is perfect for long trips between rivers, farms and local products.
